

Oeko-Tex 100 Statement

Mi Hub Ltd and Twin Hill are committed that by the end of 2018, all fabric used in the garments that we manufacture are from mills that are Oeko-Tex 100 certified.

Oeko-Tex is a globally recognised voluntary independent chemical testing and certification system for textile products through all stages of production (fibres, yarns, fabrics, ready-to-use end products, including accessories) along the textile value chain.

Included in our Operating Manual is a restricted chemicals policy which includes a mandatory requirement for a declaration of conformity. We will only partner with fabric mills that support and endorse our standards in the production of safe clothing.

Mi Hub Ltd and Twin Hill are already compliant to the REACH EC 1907/2006 regulation. REACH addresses the production and use of chemical substances, and their potential impacts on both human health and the environment. It is recognised as the most stringent legal requirement for regulating the use of chemical substances within the textile industry.

The group has a partnership with an independent testing house to conduct due diligence testing to randomly screen our products, providing further assurances that our products conform to both Oeko-Tex and REACH regulations.
